

Evofem Biosciences Announces Regulatory Submission in Mexico for Its Hormone-Free Contraceptive

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 10, 2021 /PRNewswire/ -- Evofem Biosciences, Inc., (NASDAQ: EVFM) today announced that it has submitted the registration for its hormone-free contraceptive vaginal gel to the Mexican Regulatory Agency COFEPRIS (Comisión Federal para la Protección contra Riesgos Sanitarios).

"This regulatory submission is the first step toward expanding access to our non-hormonal contraceptive vaginal gel to women outside the United States," said Sandra Pelletier, CEO of Evofem Biosciences. "Access to women's health should not have borders. We look forward to the day when all women, regardless of income or geography, have access to hormone-free birth control that they can use on their terms, only when they need it."

This is the first of several strategic regulatory submissions planned under Evofem's 2020 Global Health Agreement with Adjuvant Capital. The goal is to ensure that safe, effective, high-quality contraceptive and STI-prevention products are made available to women and healthcare providers in low and middle income countries (LMICs) on terms that are commercially viable for Evofem Biosciences.

If approved by COFEPRIS, Femidence™ is expected to be available in Mexico in early 2023 through Evofem Biosciences' to-be-named distributor.

About Evofem Biosciences

Evofem Biosciences, Inc., (NASDAQ: EVFM) is developing and commercializing innovative products to address unmet needs in women's sexual and reproductive health, including hormone-free, woman-controlled contraception and protection from certain sexually transmitted infections (chlamydia and gonorrhea).
