

Evofem Biosciences Wins Business Intelligence Group's BIG Innovation Award 2021

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 12, 2021 /PRNewswire/ -- Evofem Biosciences, Inc., (NASDAQ: EVFM) has been named a winner of Business Intelligence Group's 2021 BIG Innovation Awards for outstanding innovation with first-in-class non-hormonal prescription contraceptive vaginal gel, Phexxi® \(lactic acid, citric acid and potassium bitartrate\). This annual business awards program recognizes organizations, products, and people that are bringing new ideas to life in innovative ways.

"As a female-led, female-focused company, we put women's needs first and innovate for them. We know firsthand about the serious responsibility and impact of family planning," said Sandra Pelletier, Chief Executive Officer, Evofem Biosciences. "Despite the 18 categories of contraception, nearly half of all U.S. pregnancies are still unplanned. Women need options they can and will use, including on-demand hormone-free prescription birth control.

"Innovation is our opportunity to effect real change in women's lives. We appreciate Business Intelligence Group for recognizing our efforts," continued Pelletier. "Poverty elimination is profoundly impacted when a woman can choose when, if and how often she has children, and the best way to assist her is with innovation in birth control options."

Phexxi is designed to be used immediately before or up to an hour before intercourse. It was approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration in May 2020, and is now available in the U.S. by prescription. Phexxi works to maintain vaginal pH, which reduces sperm mobility, lowering the chance of sperm reaching the egg, and is the first non-hormonal contraceptive method created for women in decades.

Organizations from across the globe submitted their recent innovations for consideration in the BIG Innovation Awards. Nominations were judged by a select group of business leaders and executives who volunteered their time and expertise to score submissions.
